Vocational Courses in Agriculture were first organized in 1917 by the Smith-Hughes Act. Enrollments in the courses were large from the first.

During 1928, agriculture clubs in Virginian schools were organized called themselves "Future Farmers." The movement spread rapidly in the other states and within a few years chapters were organized in every state, in Alaska and Puerto Rico.

The Warren Central Chapter was organized in 1937.

Vocational and 4-H work in Warren township is directed by Mr. Walter Mowry and Mrs. Vivienne Carter. They are assisted by twenty-two adult, twenty-three junior and assistant junior leaders.

Four hundred four girls and sixty four boys enrolled in six hundred fifty projects this year.

National honors or trips have been awarded to Mararet Young, Jean Vansickle, Meta Louise Prange, Roberta Mithoefer, L'Ert Capper, Raymond Bottema, Dale Pruitt, and John DeWitte. A Purdue University scholarship was won by Eleanor Vansickle.

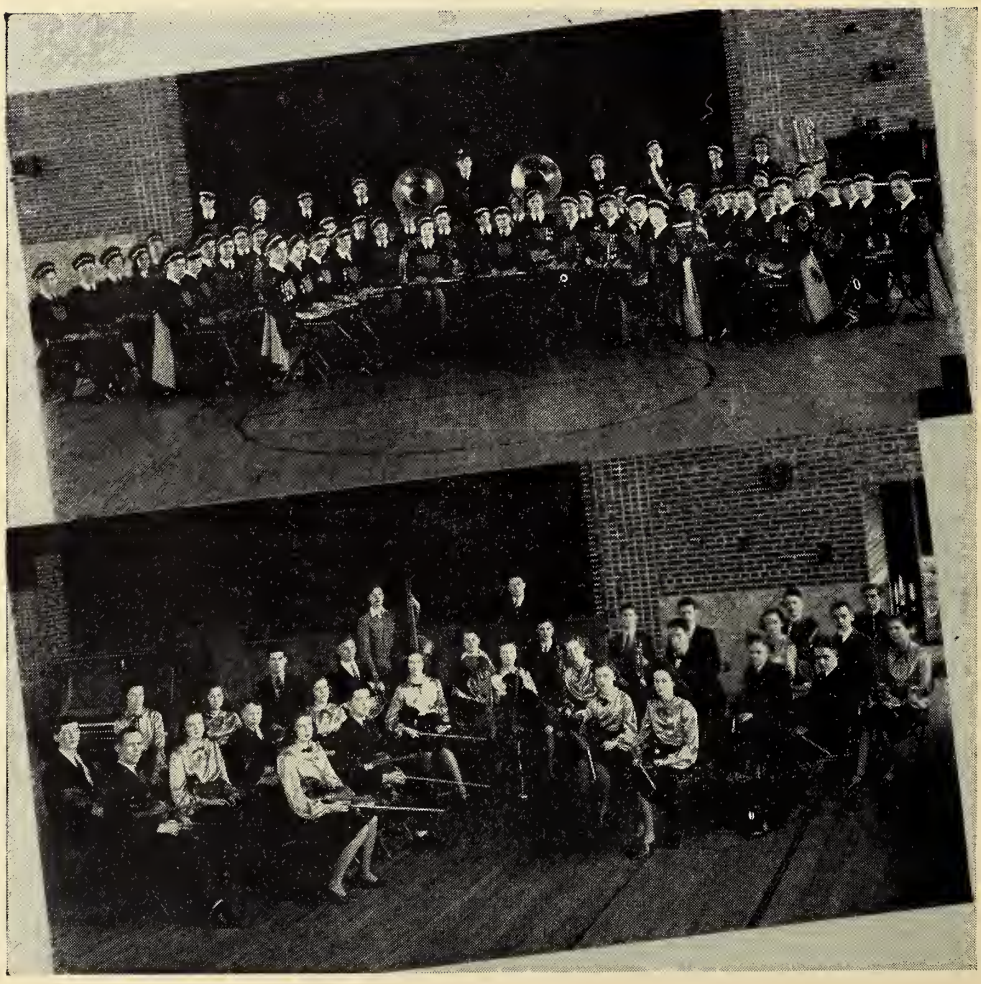
FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Band and Orchestra



The annual event of the senior chorus, is an operetta. This year "Blow Me Down" was presented on February 16 and 17. Leading roles were taken by Frank McCord, Margie Burton, Clifford West, Mildred Trueblood, Donald Reich, Annabel Eakins, Irvin Prickett, Chester Perkins, Anna Rosemeyer, and Raymond Robertson. A picture of this group is to be found on the double page in the front of the book.

The first band at Warren Central in the spring of 1928, was composed of twelve pupils.

In the fall of 1928, Mr. Hamilton, became the head of the music department.

The band has grown steadily since, and has now reached a membership of 55.

The orchestra gave its first public performance in 1929.

Contests were not participated in until the fall of 1932, when the band and orchestra won second place honors.

In 1938, the band and orchestra won first division in the District contest, and second division in the state contest.

This year thirteen of twenty-nine entrances to the state class B solo contest won the right to enter the Regional contest held in Indianapolis.

Those winning were; Betty Jane Dawson, John Sturman, Robert Clifford, James Laslie, Willard Holloway, Nellie Jones, Doyle Bowman, Jean Vansickle, Robert Vernon, String Quintette, Brass Sextette, wood wind, trio, standard clarinet quartet

Football

Football at Warren Central is still in its infancy; the game was installed last year as a major sport in the school's activities.

Under the excellent tutelage of Coach Stirling and Assistant Coach Acker, the players this year showed a marked improvement over last years squad and from indications next year's team will be even more improved.

Basketball

The outstanding contests for the Warrior cagemen during the current season were two victories over Ben Davis, 35 - 21, and 29 - 27, and a victory over Broad Ripple 37 - 21. The team was composed of five seniors, three juniors, and two freshmen, Gene Kirkpatrick was the leading scorer.

At the close of the season Lawrence O'Conner was elected honorary captain of the squad.

Track

Of the several sports at Warren Central, track overshadowed only by basketball, draws the most attention to Warren's athletic activities.

With an impressive record of eight county championships since 1926, when the sport was incorporated into the school's athletic curriculum, Warren Central has gained the distinction of winning the event more times than any of the other county schools.

Journalism

Activities of the speech classes this year, under the supervision of Mr. Moore, have been varied and interesting.

"The Valiant", a one act play, was presented before the P. T. A. in November. At this same meeting, members of the class gave speeches on extra - curricular activities.

A Christmas play, "No Room in the Inn," was given at the December P. T. A. meeting.

The class gave panel discussions on "Socialized Medicine" and "Changes in the Present School Curriculum". Each member of the cast gave an oration, L'Ert Capper was selected to represent Warren in the County Oratorical Contest. Betty Slentz was chosen to enter the American Legion Oratorical Contest.

"Yours Truly Willie" was presented as the senior qlay. The cast was composed of Lewis Randall, Pauline Smith, Jack Heskett, Devona Mae Riser, Chester Cannady, Lillian Bodensick, Mildred Kitley, Ormand Patterson, and Bill Sharp.

The main duty of the journalism class, supervised by Miss B. L. Williams, is to publish the Warren Owl and the Wigwam.

Each pupil is assigned a beat, which they cover once a week. Special stories are assigned to those who are capable of writing them. Publicity of school activities is written for the Indianapolis papers by certain members of the class.

Thirteen journalism pupils published the March 30 issue of the Butler Collegian.
